A graduate of the William and Mary Law School, Krystle Waldron is an Associate in the firm's Veterans Benefit Group. Krystle developed her passion for working with Veterans while working as an Intern in the William and Mary School of Law's Veterans Benefits Clinic. During her internship, while working directly with veterans in their effort to obtain disability benefits, she had the unique opportunity to gain invaluable experience in learning the complexities of the VA adjudicative system. Krystle focuses her practice exclusively on the representation of Veterans and their families.
